

Wildest Dreams

by AEvilRegalSwift

Category: Once Upon a Time

Language: English

Characters: King Leopold, Regina M./The Evil Queen, Robin Hood, Snow White/Mary M. Blanchard

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-13 00:05:30

Updated: 2016-04-23 16:37:49

Packaged: 2016-04-27 19:02:46

Rating: T

Chapters: 8

Words: 8,554

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Regina has been caught by King Leopold as he is furious at his wife actions and his punishing her and her lover to death in order to show justice as Regina is willing to give up her own life in order to save the man she truly loves. I do not own any of the characters being used in this story.

1. Chapter 1

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 1

This will be an Outlaw Queen AU set in the Enchanted Forest and because there is going to be some mature content for the younger viewers because there will be some rather intense images that are not suitable.

I do not own any of the content and or characters that are going to be used for a disclaimer statement.

Leopold had read his Wife private journal with the help of Sydney in order to figure out who had stolen his wife's heart as he is very furious about the entire thing as he sets up a trap at the tavern where this man had met and stolen his wife's heart as an army of loyal white knights encircle the pub as Robin is about to walk out as he captured with a black mask over his head and dragged across the ground and tossed into a carriage and dragged down to the jail cell as Leopold takes a good hard look at the man asking " do you have any last words in order to save yourself from a fate that you deserve sir?".

Robin looks at the King in a haze in fear of his own life " please let me go, I have a son that needs me and I have no idea what I have done to you to deserve this, because my son has already lost his mother I won't let him grow up without his father".

Leopold looks at the man with the lion tattoo asking " normally I would let you live but because you stole my wife's heart you will face a punishment suited for your crime".

Robin looks back at the king leaning up against the jail cell " Sir, it's not like I had planned to steal your wife and besides you could have never loved her the way I can and I didn't mean for you to find out this way please have mercy on us both".

Leopold looks at the man he is about to kill before the rise of the morning sun in a public execution as he looks at his guards " Make sure that no one comes down here and that includes my wife and if she does try report it directly to me".

The red knight guard nods his head towards the king and stands by the prisoners cell as Regina has been locked up tight in her room ever since the king had found out about her love affair with Robin as she can't stop but blaming herself for her mistake though in her heart it is not a mistake because Robin had saved her from becoming someone she never wanted to be in the first place and set her free in ways her heart can't explain.

Regina rushes over to her vanity and pulls out a few sheets of paper that she had hidden for emergency use only as she dips her quill into the wet ink and scribbles

_Dear Snow white and Prince Charming, _

_My darling Snow, though I was never your mother _ by birth _and only through marriage but there is something you must know._

I ended up meeting the man of my dreams that is apart of my happy ending though i'm still married to your father until death, but this love is not something I can easily explain but something I know you would understand after you had found your prince and because of me the man I love his going to die and I can't let that him die because our hearts found each other so i'm going to take his place and though I won't be moving on with him at least he will be with his son and apart of this world after i'm gone.

I just wanted to let you know that though we have had our own issues never let the fear of true love be your guide because without it you will truly have nothing.

And by the time you read this I will be dead because it's the right thing to do my darling Snow please take my last bit of motherly advice, do not let the fear of your past haunt you because the only person that can ever stand in the way of your happiness is yourself.

_Sincerely, _

The Queen.

Regina wraps the letter and ties it up tightly and looks out her window at the night sky as she calls for a black crow as it lands on her arm as she looks into its black eyes " take this straight to Snow white and her Prince".

The black crow soars through the night and finds the castle that belongs to Snow and her prince as it flies to the highest window and pecks its beak against the glass as Snow wakes up and walks over to her window only to find a black crow as Charming rubs his eyes and looks at Snow asking " Snow darling what are you doing by the window?".

Snow opens her window just a crack as she noticed that the crow had left a letter as she grabs it before the wind picked up and shuts her window tightly and walks back to her bed and opens it up slowly as she looks at Charming " it's a letter from my step mother the queen".

Charming looks at Snow with concern as she chokes as she drops the letter as she looks at Charming " we have to stop her because if we don't my mother will die at the hands of my own father all because she found true love with another man".

Charming reads the letter himself as he looks at Snow " Snow my darling, though I have not met your parents, but I know what it's like to fall in love with someone else and to have to die for it is not right".

Snow looks at Charming asking " but what can we do by the time we get there she will already be dead".

Charming looks at Snow " maybe we can talk to the fairies and blue and see if we can do something to stop this".

Snow hurries out of bed as Charming follows his wife to the round table as she looks at him " but what if we can't reach the fairies in time and my mother dies because we did nothing to help her".

Charming grabs ahold of his wife hand in his and stares into her eyes " we will be able to stop this because I have faith and hope which is something i'm going to give to you because it's what we both need if we want this to work".

Snow leans in to give Charming a passionate kiss as she pulls back and stares at him " let's just hope we get to them in time".

Charming looks at Snow " Don't worry we will always find a way".

Snow writes an urgent letter to the fairies as she calls for a white bird and looks deep into its black and reddish eyes " take this to blue and she will know what to do next and hurry as fast as you can".

_

The white dove bird flaps its wings as fast and as high as it can go as it reaches the woods of the fairies as blue is hard at work managing the pixie dust as the dove drops a note in the palm of her hands as she looks at Tinkerbell asking " keep watch of the pixie dust while i'm gone".

Blue flutters away as she opens up to read the note from Snow white and Prince charming with a big gasp as she covers her mouth and disappears to Snow white and Charming castle as fast as she can.

I know that this chapter is going to be somewhat intense so just giving you a warning ahead of time and I know its rather long but it will make scenes when you reach the end.

Feel free to leave a review if you choose to do so please make sure its respectful and I will try to answer you as quickly as possible.

2. Chapter 2

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 2

Blue appears with a stream of bright blue lights shining brightly in Snow and Charming eyes as she appears to them " there may not be much we can do because as you know that once you're father has made up his mind there is no going back".

Snow white sighs at the blue fairy as her eyes are fixed upon her " well I know my father and this is not who he is and for all we know is that my step mother married young through no fault of her own and now that she has fallen in love with another man whom is not my father that is the crime she is being punished with is death which is not right".

Charming wraps his hand around his wife hips as he gazes into her eyes " Snow, this may be a problem that is out of our hands though i'm not saying that there isn't something we can do to help its just that the reality is that there may not be much that we can do at this point because we also have a kingdom to worry about as well".

Snow huffs and folds her arms over her chest as Blue looks at Snow white " well there maybe something that we could do for your step mother my dear but you must remember that all magic comes with its limits".

Snow looks at her husband Charming asking " Charming, I know that you feel that there is nothing that we can do to save my mother, but you have not known her as long as I have because she once saved my life and the least that I can do is save hers even if maybe a long shot".

Charming gaze into Snow white's eyes " he takes a deep breath and says, my darling snow white no matter what the outcome is, I know that you will do whatever you believe is right and no matter what i'll stand by you because you should not have to face this battle with your father alone".

Blue comes to a conclusion as she stares back at her Queen and Prince saying " there maybe a way to save your Mother with fairy dust which may only stop your fathers arrows before they reach her heart but you have to be true to your aim and be brave enough to stand up to your father in order to save Regina life which won't be easy but I have faith that you will be able to do it as long as you believe in yourself".

Snow white looks at the blue fairy with a firm voice " tell all of my brothers and all of the fairies in the woods to find all the pixie dust that they can get there hands on as quickly as possible because it's my turn to step up and do what needs to be done from direct order of there queen".

Blue bows down towards Snow white and Prince charming " now you're speaking as a queen your majesty and we will get working right away and have the order ready before dawn".

Blue disappears as Charming looks at Snow " well my love we should go and get some rest because tomorrow the battle will rise before the sun does and if we're going to do this properly we need all the energy we can get in order to do this task at hand as heroes".

Snow white yawns a big sigh as She and Charming walk back to there bed and fall asleep.

Because I want to interact a bit more with my audience, I am going to do my best as a writer to take my craft seriously and develop it with practice.

I wanted to thank the audience who have been patiently waiting for the next chapter in order to figure out who is going to save our Queen in the end before it's too late.

I will answer your burning questions without trying to give out too many spoilers before the next chapter is up so feel free to leave a review for me if you would like to but it's not required.

3. Chapter 3

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 3

Earlier that night after Regina had sent her letter to Snow and her new prince as she could not even sleep as she puts on her black robe that covers her from top to bottom hiding her in the shadows as she sneaks into her husband's room and digs for the keys and tiptoes her way out of the room and to the jail cell at the bottom of the castle.

Regina opens up the door to the cellar as she walks around the sleeping guards as she tries not to notice the rats scurrying behind her as she walks down a long hallway and turns to the last door on the right as she walks up to the bars in a hushed whisper " Robin are you awake my love?".

Robin stumbles upward as he hears Regina voice and places his hand between the bars as Regina grips her fingers into his as she looks at him " i'm so sorry I got you into this because of me you're going to die".

Robin grips Regina fingers into his ever so tightly as he tries to whip away her tears with his sorrow eyes staring at her " No my love this is not your fault because meeting you was the best thing that could have ever happened to the both of us do not blame yourself for getting a second chance at happiness and i'm glad it was with me my lady".

Regina tries to nuzzle between the bars to enjoy the last few hours she has left with Robin as she looks at him " you know that when Tinkerbelle saved me from falling that night before I had met you she told me that it was possible to love again and that she risked her own life to get pixie dust for me and it lead me straight to you".

Robin tries not to tear up as he just wants to hold Regina into his arms and tell her that everything is going to be alright as he just stares at her " I know because for a lady you seemed a bit out of place to be hanging around in a tavern with drunk roaty men".

Regina chuckles lightly to make sure that her voice did not echo as she stares at him into his eyes " I love you but I can't have you're death on my shoulders because I have lost love before and i'm not about to lose another one because i'd be lost forever without you".

Robin grips her fingers so that there intertwined together as she hears one of the guards waking up as she looks at him " I have to go before I get caught but do not worry i'll find another way for us to be together I promise just hang on as long as you can".

Robin walks back to his corner of the cell as he watches Regina walk away from him again as she hurries out of there before the guards could notice as she walks back to her bedroom and locks the door and stares at out the window into the dark sky with nothing but her own silent tears falling down her face as she has nothing left to hope for a better end until the sun starts to break into a deep red sky.

I know that this next chapter is rather short but I am only keeping it short because it's going to be rather intense for the next few chapters to come and I wanted to make sure that the Audience  has a chance to breath in between each one.

Thank you for the wonderful support and the reviews and i'll do my best to update this story as much as I can.

4. Chapter 4

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 4

Regina had gotten no sleep that night as the bright dawn of the morning sun shines into her room as she wakes up with puffy eyes and bags under her lids as she knows what today is as it weighs heavy on her heart as she gets changed into the same dress she wore that night they had met with her loose curls swing down to her shoulders as her crown weighs heavily on her head.

The king is already at breakfast as he waits for Regina to join him as he has a ton on his mind as he received a letter from the messenger that the town square was ready for the public execution later this morning.

Regina walks with a heavy heart as she joins her husband for tea and small cakes as they eat in silence as Regina can't take any more of this as she snaps in a harsh tone at her husband " you selfish King, the only reason you are keeping me here is because i feel in love with a man that I truly love and now you're going to kill him just because you have the power to do so".

Leopold slams his knife down against his plate as he leans in towards his wife " You foolish little slut you think that just because you're queen you can stop his fate well my dear you can't because as long as i'm alive no one will listen to you".

Regina leans back trying to push her tears from her face as she just feels the pulse growing with thick bowling rage as she looks at him " What if you killed me instead and set him free of his crime against you and then all of this would be over".

Leopold runs his hand through his white beard as he looks at his wife " Um, you would be willing to condemn yourself to death in order to save the thief that stole your heart?".

Regina feels the air in her lungs burn to her chest as she waits for the king's answer as Lepold just puts on a smirk look on his face as he ponders on that thought to himself for a long while as he reaches his decision " well well your majesty you may have your wish and as long as you're willing to die I will grant the prisoner his freedom as long as he agrees to watch you die in return" as he lets out a long chuckle of laughter that never seemed to end as Regina can let out a small deep breath and finish her last meal.

I hope that the audience does not mind the short few chapters that I will be posting and because I am going to be writing a public hanging in the next chapter it's going to be very intense for younger viewers so please be ready to handle the next few chapters at your own risk.

5. Chapter 5

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 5

Snow and Prince Charming got up just before dawn as blue has given them a small bag of what was left of the pixie dust as Blue looks at them " good luck and hopefully the dust will last long enough in order to save your mother life".

Snow and Charming watch blue disappear as they get onto there horse and gallop as quickly as possible as the only time that is against them is the rise of the sun that beats against the sky.

The guard drag Robin hood into the town square as the people of the kingdom where forced upon there will to watch as Regina feels her heart pounding out of her chest with her mouth as dry as the desert as she is forced to watch Robin being dragged across the ground as she is powerless to save him.

The king steps out into the square " My people, there have been a turn of events before I brought all of you here to witness this man's death but today I am going to forgive him for his punishment because the Queen has volunteered to step into his place".

Robin eyes glance up to Regina as she steps down from her place as Queen and takes off her crown and walks down to the square as small gasp from the crowd surround her own ears as Robin tries to yell " No Regina, you can't do this" as he is dragged and tossed into the crowd by the guards as he can't help but stare at his soulmate who is willing to die for his life.

The guards help Regina stand as the rope falls down as they wrap it tightly around her neck as they blindfold her eyes as she can't see a darn thing as she feels the rope tighten around her neck as she can feel the blood flow stop as she wishes she was dead though it only seems to make the pain of this punishment that much worse.

Snow and Charming rush into the town square just before the stole was pulled from under Regina feet as Snow pulls out the dust towards the Queen as Leopold looks at his daughter yelling " Snow white, get the hell out of here you have no right to stop this execution because you have no power here".

Prince Charming draws out his sword towards Snow white and glares at his father in law " You may be a king but to your people you are nothing more than a coward and lay one hand on Snow you will end up dead with one swing, I guarantee it".

The rope is choking the queen as she cant even breath as Snow pulls on of her arrows and aims it directly to the royal guards as the fall to there deaths as the rope falls down as the Queen hits her head on the ground as she lays unconscious to her own surroundings as Snow rushes over to her mother and quickly unties the rope and the blind folds.

Prince Charming rides onto his horse and aims his sword into Leopold's chest as the king falls to the ground with blood flowing everywhere on the ground as Robin rushes over to Regina as the crowds of people panic helplessly as Robin looks at Snow as she commands " Take her back to my palace on my horse as quickly as you can".

Robin picks up Regina very carefully in order to preserve her body's condition from further injury as he mounts onto the horse as he gallops as fast as he can back to Snow white and Prince Charming castle as a bright blue path of pixie dust is hung high above him as he follows it and rushes into the castle with the doors swinging loudly behind him as Blue and the other fairies appear in front of him as they take Regina into another room as quickly as possible and strip her out of her bloody clothes as Tink and Nova and Doc work together to clean the bloody wounds around her neck and whip the blood away and change her into a dark gray dress that they had left over as Regina just lays there lifeless and unable to move on her own as Nova looks at Tink asking " Do you think that she could have a chance to wake up from this?".

Tink has been wound up tight trying to clean the rest of Regina wounds along her entire body as she looks at Nova unable to answer the question with honesty as she just goes back to washing out the wounds that are cut deep in the skin as she tucks the covers over Regina and brushes her hair and kisses her forehead and walks out of the bedroom as Blue appears to Tink " Tinkerbell, you have been very brave today and because you have showed all of us that you are ready to be a fairy i'll make sure that when the Queen wakes up that you will become the fairy that guides and protects her because you got her to stay on the path of light which is more than most of us fairies have the capability to do but for now Green you should get some rest and i'll keep an eye on her until morning".

Tinkerbelle leaves the room with a heavy heart as Robin has been in a haze all day and night as she walks over to him asking " are you alright?".

Robin looks at the small blonde woman standing in front of him " No i'm not because this is all my fault the queen could have died all because we fell in love with each other".

Tink sits besides Robin " Robin, do not blame yourself because when I first met Regina, she was so lost and you gave her the most important thing that she has ever needed which is love so do not blame yourself for that because the only you can do now is hope and get some sleep if you can".

Robin looks at the tired blonde woman leaving as he walks to another room in the palace and closes the door shut and lays down in the bed as he tries to get some sleep as he watches the sky change colors as it eases his mind into a restful night sleep.

I know that this chapter is going to be intense and after this chapter is posted there won't be anymore intense moments after this and that there will be a bit more mellow moments to enjoy.

6. Chapter 6

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 6

I wanted to thank the incredible audience for your wonderful reviews and you're amazing support as I have been working on this making sure that everything runs smoothly and without giving too much away here I can firmly say that Regina indeed will not die but she will have a long recovery ahead of her but she will have a ton of support through out this story that will help her heal.

Many months have gone by as the fairies have been taking care of Regina as they wait for her to wake up as Prince Charming has been trying to keep Robin busy as much as possible as they have been able to bond over the past few months since the execution as it has made it a bit easier for everyone to find some comfort and peace.

Robin is helping Charming in the stables as he asks " so if you do not mind asking, how does a former shepherd's son become a prince? "

_Charming chuckles lightly as he brushes down the horse main " well a long time ago before I married Snow, my mother owned a sheep farm and since she never got married after my father had left the day I was born so she raised me well and I helped her as much as I could to help pay the rent and anywho instead of boring you with my life story here but if you're really dying to know the truth is that my father King George had another son named Prince James who was my twin brother and he died from a dragon attack so my father needed another prince to unite the kingdoms and so he came looking for me and in order to save our family farm my mother told me to accept the offer and take my brother place as prince"._

Robin looks at Charming " wow that is very brave of you".

Charming looks at Robin " well between us men my real name is David it's just when I first met Snow white during an armed robbery which she escaped but I caught her a few days later in a net and she called me charming because it suited me at the time" as Robin chuckles a bit " so that how you got that name but if it's alright with you i think i'll call you David".

Charming smiles warmly at Robin " that is perfectly alright with me and how about we take a lunch break and then when we're done we will feed the horses and call it a day".

Robin looks at David " sounds like a plan mate".

After Robin and Charming have taken care of the horses as they head inside the palace for dinner as Robin walked past Regina room as he does every day as he noticed Snow white brushing Regina hair as he walks in and lightly knocks on the door asking " Would you like some company you're majesty?".

Snow white looks up at Robin with a soft smile on her face " Sure why not and you can call me Snow by the way if you would like".

Robin blushes a bit as he approaches Snow " Sorry about that old habits seem to stick around longer than planned".

Snow chuckles softly " it's okay it happens to everyone".

Robin stares at Regina as she looks so peaceful as her cuts have finally healed as he looks at Snow asking " when do you think she will wake up?".

Snow looks at Robin " i'm not sure but the fairies said that she has been making a ton of progress but there not even sure when she will wake up but they have faith and hope that someday she will though it won't be an easy recovery for her but she won't be alone because she has you and people she loves very much who will help take care of her though she can be very stubborn at times".

Robin chuckles " Oh that much is true and I know that because that night we first met in the tavern she refused to let me buy her one drink and we fought about it for five minutes until she eventually caved in".

Snow chuckles warmly " that does sound like my mother alright though she is very stubborn she has biggest heart that I have ever come to know".

Robin looks at Snow " well we should head out so that way we do not get yelled at by the fairies again".

_Snow gets up and smiles at Robin " you're right and would you like to join us for dinner tonight?"._

Robin smiles at Snow " that sounds very generous of you and thank you for letting us stay here over the past few months".

Snow smiles at Robin " it's the least we could do because you're family and no matter what happens sometimes you just have to step up because that what families and you can stay here as long as you need to".

Just as they are headed out the door as Regina opens up her eyes slowly as she feels rather groggy and out of place as she asks in a rather weak tone " Where am I?".

Robin ears light up as he walks over to Regina side as Snow follows behind Robin as he squeezes her hand and falls into her body as Regina looks rather startled and confused by everyone's rush of affection towards her as Snow reaches over to Robin " easy Robin we do not want to overwhelm her right now".

Regina looks around her room as nothing is familiar to her as she notices two people staring back at her as she looks around asking " how did I end up here because I thought I was dead?".

Robin looks at Snow as she looks back at Robin " why don't you stay with her while i go and tell the fairies that she is awake and try not to tell her everything at once because she may not be ready to handle all of that just yet".

Robin looks at Snow " Don't worry i know just the right things to say to here that I hope she can remember".

Snow smiles at Robin " do not give up on her and try telling her a story that she may remember one that won't trigger any painful memories and if you need anything the fairies are right next door".

Robin looks at Snow as Regina watches them talk about her as her mind is wandering around her head at a thousand miles a minute as Robin places his hand over Regina and shows her his lion tattoo as Regina looks directly at his arm as her mind gives her a much different imagine that puts a wide smile on her face as she falls into Robin chest as he pulls her in ever so tightly in an embracing hug.

__One last note for the audience because the last several chapters have been intense ill make sure to add in some Outlaw Queen fluff every now and then to lighten up the mood as well.__

__feel free to leave a review and ill try to get to everyone without giving out to many spoilers.__

7. Chapter 7

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 7

_Sorry it's taken me so long to update this story, but thank you for all the wonderful reviews and hopefully i have managed to answer everyone's question so far if not please let me know and i'll respond to you right away._

Robin has been excused from dinner as Tinkerbell has been keeping a closer watch near the door as he has been working with Regina on trying to regain her trust and her heart back again though it won't be easy but he is not going to give up on her because to him she is worth it.

Regina stares at Robin tattoo as Robin kindly asks " what else do you remember about me besides my lion tattoo my lady".

Regina looks at him as she looks down for a moment as her mind shifts to a different memory as it takes her back to the first memory she has of him as she looks at him with a soft kind smile " well I remember that night we met which was at a tavern, though my memory is still a bit foggy but I can recall that there was a fairy there with me though I can't seem to remember her name".

Robin motions Tinkerbell to come forward with the wave of his hand as she walks up to Regina with a soft kind smile and introduces herself to her " my name is Tinkerbelle, and it's a pleasure to meet you Regina".

Regina stares at Tinkerbelle as she keeps staring at her as if she knows who she is but can't seem to find a memory of her at the moment as Tinkerbelle walks back towards her seat by the bedroom door as Regina eyes keep following her as her mind shows her a memory of the very first time that they met as her eyes light up as she watches the small lady sit back down as she asks her " where we close by chance?".

Tinkerbelle looks up at Regina with a soft tender smile " well not at first but eventually we both warmed up to each other if that helps".

Regina keeps staring at her as Robin looks at Regina " I think that is enough for now my lady, I think you should try and lay down a bit because you have been through a lot".

Regina snaps her head at his direction " I'm just fine but thank you for you're concern with my well being but i'm not tired and I was wondering if I could have a moment alone with Tinkerbelle".

Robin sighs as he forgets just how direct Regina can be at times as he looks at her with a big sigh " alright my lady, i'll leave you two ladies alone and Tink try not to overwhelm her with too much information".

Tink looks at Robin " Fine, I'll do my best now give us some privacy we have a lot to catch up on and we would not want to bore you with all this lady chit chat".

Robin chuckles a bit as he bows down towards Tink " well I guess that is my cue to leave and you ladies have a nice night and try not to stay up to late".

Regina chuckles as she looks at Tink asking " does he always act like that?'.

Tink chuckles lightly " usually yes, but you learn to love it eventually".

Regina shoves her long bangs out of her face as she looks at the blonde lady staring back at her asking " so now that he is out of the room can you tell me how we met?".

Tinkerbelle sits besides Regina with a heavy heart as she takes a deep breath and sighs " well if you must know a very long time ago under different circumstances, I found you because I heard far off distant screaming on my way home that night and I had to follow because it did not sound too good and by the time I saw you with my fairy eyes, you were falling very quickly and just before you hit the solid ground, I used pixie dust to catch you in my grasp and you were very afraid but when I flew you back up, you asked me who I was and that I told you that night we met that you deserved a second chance".

Robin has been spying on them from outside the doorway as Blue walks on over to him as she clears her throat as Robin is spooked as he looks at blue " my apologies my lady and will you promise not to tell them I was here spying please?" as he uses his begging tone as Blue chuckles a bit as she looks at him " you're secrets are yours so I will keep my word if that is what you wish but just this one time".

Robin bows his head down towards Blue as she quietly walks the other way as he continues listening in as Regina smiles at Tinkerbell as she asks " so who was the girl that you saved that night because she seemed like she was in trouble otherwise she would not have jumped right?".

Tinkerbelle looks at Regina with amazement in her eyes as she gasps " Regina, are you sure that you do not remember that night we met because it seems as if you do but then you don't".

Regina mind flutters back to a different memory as she was talking to Leopold as he was not happy that Regina was not willing to cooperate with him as he leans over to her almost pressed against her face as he pulls his hand out and slaps her across the face with the back of his hand as she falls back into her chair as the burn of the sting across her face hits her as she tries to push back her tears as Leopold glares at his wife with hatred and anger " you are my Wife, and you are required to practice the rules I ask you to do which is not much you're majesty, and yet you have the guts to go against your own king!".

There maid brings out some fresh water as Leopold looks at Regina who is trying to push away the tears that won't fade away as he leaves her alone as she rushes to pick up the mess that Leopold had made from there argument as her hands are shaking as the maid walks up to the queen with a kind touch on her hand " it's okay you're majesty, it happens all the time dear, now let me clean this up if that is alright with you?".

_Regina leaves the dinner table and runs to her bedroom and slams the door behind her as she paces around her room as her face stings from the pain as she walks quickly over to her balcony as the anger is reaching the surface as she pushes up against the bar with all she has as a loose bolt and falls as Regina loses her grip as she begins to free fall towards the ground as she is to light against the cold night time air the blows across her face as she hurls to the ground as she shuts her eyes and waits to hit the ground below her as something catches her breath and holds her steady in the air like a safety net as she is rising back up to her bedroom as the adrenaline in her head is pounding as she is back on her feet as a bright green light appears as it almost blinds her as Tinkerbell appears to her with her wings behind her back as she looks at the young woman with a soft smile " My name is Tinkerbell and i'm here to give you a second chance"._

_Again, I am so very sorry it's taken me so dang long to post another chapter __,_ I have just been rather busy and have not had to the time to write, but now that I have I can't wait to share this new chapter and a bit of OQ fluff with some flashbacks that will remind us why we are on this incredible ship. Thank you to the wonderful reviews, I have loved interacting with the amazing audience so far and if you would like to leave a review you can but it's not required. _

One last thing and then I promise to make it quick, Happy 2 year anniversary to Robin and Regina very first kiss which aired in season three Episode 18 on once upon a time.

8. Chapter 8

Wildest Dreams

Chapter 8

Hello everyone, again sorry it's been taking me so long to update with a new chapter, I've been in a writers block for almost a six days trying to figure out where to carry this story out but now that i'm semi out of the block, it will be a bit out outlaw Queen flashbacks with a bit of a twist.

Thank you for waiting very patiently for a new chapter.

The next morning as Tinkerbell and Regina are at a small tavern together having some lunch as Tink looks at her asking " so what caused you to jump?".

Regina tucks her hair back behind her ears as she takes a deep breath and looks at the fairy " I didn't jump, I fell".

_Tink looks at Regina " uh hu". _

Regina looks at Tink " its the truth, but if I had jumped well here's to good reasons" as she raises her glass towards Tink as she looks at Regina " you know I can help people find what they need".

Regina looks back at Tinkerbell " and what do I need?".

Tink looks at Regina with a shock in her voice " you don't even know, Regina that is so sad because what you need is love and I can help you".

Regina chuckles a bit to herself as she looks at Tinkerbelle " and you're going to help me find another soulmate?".

Tinkerbelle looks at Regina " I have never seen pixie dust fail, but it would help for starters if you believed in me".

Regina looks at Tinkerbelle" well if you can do what you say then that would be right magic right?".

Tinkerbelle looks at Regina " yes real magic, but I have to go somewhere but i'll see you later".

Blue is waiting for Tinkerbelle as she sighs knowing that Green is very late as Tink flutters in bound to Blue as she looks at her " sorry, i'm late".

Blue looks at Green " Green, we need to talk about you stealing pixie dust which is not very fairy like because I know about you trying to help a young queen in the enchanted forest, and you must stay away from her because she is surrounded by darkness".

Tinkerbelle looks at Blue " she is the exact person that needs saving and since when do you get to decide what is fairy like and my name is not green it's Tinkerbelle".

Blue glares at Green " Tinkerbelle, what I am saying is that i'm not going to give you anymore pixie dust because it's not your duty to save her and from now on you will be under my supervision".

Blue disappears as Tinkerbelle flutters to the extra pixie dust and takes just what she needs and flies out and heads back to the queen castle as Regina is just finishing up her journal entry as she spots Tink with a smile on her face as she looks at her " so Regina, are you ready to fly?".

Regina eyes light up " you got the dust, and besides aren't fairies quite proprietary about it and if they find out you stole it" as Tinkerbelle looks at Regina " do not worry about me, and besides does anyone really own pixie dust these days".

Tinkerbelle walks over to Regina and spreads the dust around her as she starts to fly off the ground as Tink grabs her hand as the sky above them lights up a shade of green as Tinkerbelle looks at Regina " just follow the path and it will lead you to you're happy ending".

Regina and Tinkerbelle fly down together as she walks Regina up to a small tavern with a stained glass window as Regina looks at Tinkerbelle as she smiles at her " there he is the man with the lion tattoo in there lies the beginning of your happiness".

Regina feels her heart racing as she looks at Tinkerbelle " I I just need a few moments".

Tinkerbelle looks at Regina " I get it you're nervous but I know you can do this because it will give you a fresh start and allow you to let go of all the anger that has been weighing you down".

Tinkerbelle flutters away as Regina watches her as she stares at the window as she can feel the warm glow of the dust against her face as she takes a deep breath in and opens up the door as the warm breeze hits her across her face as she tries to move her feet but is unable to move as she slams the door behind her as everyone who was in the tavern stares at her and then goes back to their mindless chatter.

Regina regains her composure as she follows the green glow as she can see it glowing even brighter as she wonders if she is going to end up blind by the time she gets to him.

She is almost there as the light is still glowing all around her making it very hard to see as Robin gets up to stretch his leg as he feels a warm breeze brushing against him as he turns around and bumps into a young woman as he catches her in his arms just before she could fall as he chuckles a bit " sorry about that my lady, are you alright?".

Regina blushes a bit as the light dims down as they had made contact as she stares at him as her eyes go to his tattoo as he looks at her deep down into her eyes as it feels like she has known him her entire life though they just met as Regina looks at him " i'm fine thank you for catching me".

Robin can't help but stare into this young lady's eyes whom he has never seen before as the connection between them is very intense as he tries to treat her like the lady she is as he sets her back on her feet asking " would you care to join me for a drink, my lady?".

Regina looks at him with very kind eyes as she does not want to be rude to him as she smiles ever so slightly at him with her long lashes gazes at him " yes I would love to".

Robin smiles at her as her voice is ever so soft and yet so proper as he moves out of the way to and gives her one of his hand " ladies first" as Regina sits down as Robin joins her a few moments later and waves down a wench as he looks at her " 2 glasses of whiskey please".

The wench returns with two glasses of Whiskey as Robin looks at the young woman as he asks " so what is a young lady such as yourself doing at a stinky old tavern?".

Regina chuckles a bit as she takes a sip of her drink as she looks back up into his blue eyes that take her breath away as she is unable to answer his simple question as he stares at her " it's okay, you do not have to tell me your reasons my lady".

Regina regains her breath as her heart finally returns to normal as she looks at Robin " I was supposed to be joined with a friend of mine but she was unable to make it".

Robin gazes deeper into the lady's eyes as he studies her as he notices how beautiful she is as it takes him away as he is the luckiest man in this pub to be sitting next to her as he smiles softly at her " since I do not know much about you would it be too much to ask you what your name is my lady?".

Regina looks at the man with the lion tattoo as the anger that had always weighed her down for so long is no longer there as she feels like she can finally breath around this man she had just met with a clear head on her shoulders as she stares into his soft blue eyes " i'm Regina" as Robin smiles at her " well Regina my lady it's a pleasure to meet you" as he goes to shake her hand as Regina shake it firmly as she looks at him " would it be rude if I were to ask you to ask you what you're name is?".

_Robin stares back at Regina as he has not let go of her hand even after the quick hand shake as he clears his throat " Robin of locksley my lady". _

I hope that this chapter is not too long but I had to add in a few important scenes otherwise it would not make sense.

But I hope that everyone enjoys the little outlaw Queen flashback and again I apologize if its rather long but feel free to leave a review though it's not required.

End
file.